Organized Labor Is a Unit in Stoutly Insisting Upon the Retention of the Present Plumbing Inspector.

Organized labor is insisting upon the appointment of union men in all mechanical departments. There is great dissatisfaction because a master plumber has been nominated for plumbing inspector to succeed the present incumbent, Henry Sieben, but labor has other grievances. A number of leading union men have been appointed to good positions by the mayor but others

J. D. Welch, a leading labor man, was a candidate for sergeant-at-arms of the lower house. He failed to get the job and now er house. He falled to get the job and now he intimates rather strongly that some members of the new house have severed diplomatic relations with truthfulness and gratifude. The Midland Mechanic says that the four spot of clubs will be sufficient to check off all the union men at the city hall, but this is only a figure of speech. Union labor supported Mayor Jones at the recent election, because he had shown himbelf a friend of organized labor.

Organized labor is in earnest in demanding the retention of Plumbing Inspector Sieben. The last issue of the Midland Mechanic had the following to say of the matter:

chanic had the following to say of the matter:

An effort is being made to oust Henry Sieben, a union man, plumbing inspector, and substitute a non-union. — man in his place. Mr. Sieben has given excellent satisfaction, is thoroughly competent, and has the hearty indorsement of every union plumber in Kansas City, as well as organized lator generally. Just why he should be turned down. — passes comprehension, unless there is politics in the move. He was instrumental in throwing out the objectionable Smead system of dry ventilation in the school closets, a disease breeding device which injured the health of our thousands of school children. He fought it almost single-handed and won, making the school bard take out the system and have the work done according to city ordinance, by Kansas City plumbers. He also secured an order for ten assistant plumbing inspectors in order to make a house to house inspection as a sanitary measure. Every man selected was a union man.

These names were presented to Webster Davig, then mayor, who indorsed the list in its entirety:
Cavanaugh, Welch, Nesbitt, Bornett, Malloy, Campbell, Brown, Fitsgerald, Grace, Hunter. Webster Davis heartily seconded Siebon's praposition to use none but competent union men, and in every way showed his bearty friendship for the craft. Siebon also secured a measure for the appointment of an assistant plumbing inspector, and at the request of Plumbers' union No. 8 appointed Henry C. Mankin, also secured a measure for the appointment of an as-sistant plumbing impector, and at the request of Plumbers' union No. 8 appointed Henry C. Mankin, a well known and much esteemed union labor man. The facts in the case would justify the retention of Mr. Sleben to the office he has so ably filled, and to cust him now for an unheard-of and all-around in-competent would be a sinp at organized labor which will redound seriously to the discredit of the adder-men who vote against Sleben. A howl may be ex-pected if Dawson goes in.

CITY OFFICES NEED MORE ROOM

Superintendent of Buildings Love Is Figuring on Overhauling and Adding to the City Hall.

Superintendent of Buildings Love has begun to figure on the work of overhauling the interior space of the city hall and possibly building an addition on the s in accordance with the instructions of the board of public works.

The city hall is one of the most inconveniently appointed buildings in the city. It cost $50,000, only a little less than the splendid county court house. The contrast between the two structures is almost laugh-able. There is a vast amount of space in the city hall which cannot be utilized, and at the same time there is a great deal that the city hall which cannot be utilized, and at the same time there is a great deal that can. A general overhauling of the interior space will be made and as much of the unused space as possible will be utilized. An addition of two stories on the south is contemplated. The board will set aside every dollar it can spare for this work, for which $5,000 will not be too much. The offices on the first two floors are cramped for room, especially the offices of the election commissioners, park board, auditor and treasurer.

LAND BEING DONATED.

Agricultural Commission Is Receiving Considerable Encouragement.

The agricultural commission met yester day and received donations of small tracts of land. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday afternoon, by which time it is hoped that enough land will have been offered to make a start. The season is backward on account of the cold and rain and this is a point in the favor of the commission's work. Un-der ordinary conditions it would now be too late to make extensive operations prac-ticable. But a great deal of good can yet be done if owners of vacant property will only donate the use of it to the commisficials Now Ask Fees for Notary Work.

I. B. Mariatt, the recently defeated Dem-ocratic candidate for city treasurer, sued Kansas City yesterday for $2,700, which he claims is due him as notary fee when he was a clerk in the city treasurer's office, Mariatt held a notary public's commission and part of his duty was to take ac-knowledgments to tax sales and other things. The state provides that the fee of things, The state provides that the fee of a notary for taking an acknowledgment shall be 50 cents. This fee, in the case of Marlatt, went into the city treasury. The city contended that as Marlatt was paid a salary by the city he was not entitled to the fee.

THE STORY OF A LOST PIG. And How Every Person Promised to

Say Nothing About It to Any Person at All. James Miller, who lives in the vicinity of the state Blind institution on the Kansas side, tells a very amusing story of hard luck. It is a story in which the woman's tongue plays a leading part.

A few days ago Mr. Miller picked up a stray pig which had been lottering about his premises for several days. He placed the stray shoat into a sity and confidentially told his wife what he had done and stated that he would keep the animal unless its owner appeared. When Mrs. Miller was made cognizant of her husband's less its owner appeared. When Mrs. Mille was made cognizant of her husband action she was cautioned against sayin, anything about it. Of course, she agreed t this.

The next day her sister visited her.

"James picked up a stray pig the other day, but you mustn't say anything about it." were about the first words that Mrs. Miller uttered. And the sister promised to say nothing about the pig. The same day several of the neighbors called at the Miller home and while they were told all about Mr. Miller locking up the stray pig, they all agreed to say nothing about it.

The husbands of the different women learned that night all about Mr. Miller and the stray pig, but they, like the women. learned that night all about Mr. Miller and the stray pig, but they, like the women, were to say nothing about it. And so the news spread over the entire neighborhood, nobody saying anything about it—the pig. About the last to hear about the stray shoat was the wife of the man who lost the pig. She was cautioned against saying anything about it. But she did. She told her husband and the following day Miller was minus a pig. vas minus a pig.
